

In-head

written inside `<head>`

Placed before the body content

It is suitable for function & scripts needed before page content.

written inside HTML file

In-body

written inside `<body>`

Usually placed near body content suitable for scripts that work with body elements

written inside HTML file

External file

written inside separate .js file.

It is linked to HTML using `src attr.`

suitable for large & professional projects, written outside HTML file